Successful Shuttle landing exhilarates NSTL personnel

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

National Space Technology Laboratories' personnel applauded, chuckled nervously and cheered during Tuesday's successful Space Shuttle orbiter landing in California.

The orbiter's booster engines and liquid propellant tank were tested at NSTL.

After flying a 54-hour test mission the orbiter 'Columbia' glided into the Earth's atmosphere and landed on Roger's Dry Lake in the Mojave Desert near Edwards Air Force Base at 12:20:52 p.m. CST.

'Columbia' is the first spacecraft executing an airplane style landing after being rocketed into space.

Hundreds of NSTL employees jammed the Visitor's Center auditorium at noon to watch the landing on a five-foot television screen and some 100 executives packed the Gainsville Room in Building 1100 with attention riveted to a small color television.

A guarded applause rippled through the auditorium audience at about 12:05 p.m. when Astronauts John W. Young, 50, and U.S. Navy Cpt. Robert L. Crippen, 43, reported they were ready to land after re-entry through the Earth's upper atmosphere.

National Aeronautics and Space

Administration officials were concerned over intense heat resulting from the spaceship's re-entry into the atmosphere.

After Sunday's launch some 15 of the craft's heat protective tiles were lost from upper portions of the 'Columbia.'

The NSTL audience chuckled nervously at about 12:15 p.m. when television cameras in Air Force planes showed a close-up view of the orbiter gliding toward the landing site with a comparatively small T-38 jet accompanying the rapidly descending spacecraft.

The next crucial point was deployment of landing gear as the SHUTTLE—Page 5A

By BRENT MACEY

Trials for John V. Ladner and R.D. (Bob) Rippetoe, both indicted by an October 1980 Grand Jury in connection with repair work at Gulfview Elementary School, have been continued until the July term of the Hancock County Circuit Court.

A demurrer filed by defense attorney for John V. Ladner which claimed an indictment charging Ladner with forgery was legally insufficient, was overruled by Senior Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant the first Monday of the April court term.

Grant said later, "I think the indictment is sufficient."

The judge said a trial date will be set by the court if attorneys for the defense and prosecution fail to establish a mutually agreed upon date for that trial.

Prosecuting attorney Henry Cook III said he expects the trial will be set for the July session of circuit court and added he will be contacting defense attorney Joe Sam Owen of Gulfport about setting a trial date.

Ladner, county election commissioner for Beat Three and salesman of janitorial supplies, is charged with allegedly submitting an invoice to the

Hancock County School Board in the name of Tommy Lane for painting services at Gulfview Elementary School 'when no funds were due the said Tommy Lane.'

Ladner is charged with receiving, endorsing and cashing two checks totalling $4,840 in Lane's name.

The alleged offenses occurred after a tornado struck the school in May of 1979 and the school board declared Gulfview an emergency situation.

In the demurrer, Owen claimed the indictment charged Ladner with two separate crimes, uttering forgery and forgery.

He contended the uttering forgery charge stemmed from Ladner's alleged submitting of an invoice to the school board while the forgery charge related to a second transaction.

Owen also contended the school board was named the victim of the alleged crime when either Lane or the Hancock Bank, who cashed the check, could also be considered the victim.

Thirdly, Owen contested the indictment stated Ladner knew the check was counterfeit and therefore no crime was committed.

All defense objections were overruled by Grant.

The trial of R.D. (Bob) Rippetoe, also indicted by the October Grand Jury in connection with the Gulfview school repair work, is set for call July 13.

Rippetoe had been scheduled for trial in the current term, however a requested extension of trial date by his attorney, John C. Johnson of Gulfport, was approved by Grant.

The indictment charges Rippetoe with false pretense for allegedly receiving $4,840 from the school board for work not rendered by subcontractor Werlin Ladner Construction Company.

Hancock fish trap violations charged

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Three persons have been arrested by Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation officers for illegal fishing in Hancock County.

Officer C.J. Cameron reports the arrest of Oris Vincent Ladner, 33, P.O. Box 284, Lakeshore; Berlon Kelly Necaise, 30, Route 1, Box 346, Picayune; and Thomas J. Ladner, Route 2, Box 356, Bay St. Louis Tuesday night with a fourth person still being sought.

The three have been charged with the alleged running of slat traps, possession of two slat traps and the possession of 23 illegally taken catfish. They are out on bond.

An April 21 trial has been set before Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson, according to Cameron.

Cameron stated, "We have been investigating this illegal fishing as well as others for the past several weeks in Hancock."

Conservation Officer Walter assisted Cameron in the arrests.

Kiln area gets funds for water distribution

By BRENT MACEY

Some $177,000 in funds have been approved for construction of a water pump and additional water distribution lines in the Rocky Hill, Fire Tower Road area of Hancock County, a spokesman from Congressman Trent Lott's office said recently.

Cleveland Wyatt, chairman for the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District, Wednesday said $50,000 of that money is a grant from the Farmers Home Loan Association.

Some $120,000 is a 40 year, five percent interest loan from the FmHA and $7,000 is a 'carry over' from Phase I of the program, Wyatt said.

Phase I of the program, which was allocated one-half million dollars from FmHA, completed construction of a water tower in the Kiln area and construction of approximately 25 miles of water distribution lines with fire protection plugs.

That phase of the project greatly reduced Kiln residents' cost for fire protection insurance.

Wyatt said implementation of Phase II of the program will not include adding fire protection services.

"It will not affect fire insurance rates," he said.

Instead, Wyatt said that money will be used to construct a water pump underneath the current water tower and add 11.5 miles of water distribution lines.

Those lines will service some 81 homes in northern Kiln region, he said. Wyatt said water meters will also be installed at each home.

A $5.00 minimum cost for monthly service will be charged once residents are connected," he said.

He added, "Residents will have to pay the cost for hooking up to the main distribution lines in front of their homes."

Michael Haas, attorney for the district, compared the money allocation to a 'bonanza.'

"When you consider $177,000 being allocated to 81 homes you're looking at an allocation of over $2,000 per customer," Haas said.

Haas said the only investment which customers made for the grant and loan money was a $25 fee during the initial stages of applying for funds.

He said customers who paid that initial fee will be getting their money back.

Customers who now want to connect to the lines but were not willing to pay the initial $25 fee will now have to pay $200 in order to connect to the distribution lines, he stated.

Woman found guilty of food stamp fraud

By BRENT MACEY

Deborah B. Dorn, formerly of Waveland and now residing near the Picaune area, Tuesday plead guilty to charges of receiving food coupons fraudulently from the Hancock County Welfare Department.

She received a five year suspended sentence in the Mississippi state penitentiary by Senior Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant Tuesday, was fined $1,000, and also made to pay $7,250 in restitution fees to the Hancock County Welfare Department.

Restitution fees are to be paid in $137.50 monthly intervals.

Al Snyder, deputy circuit clerk, said Dorn must also pay court costs.

"We have yet to determine what that amount will be," he stated.

Glen Cannon, assistant district attorney and prosecuting attorney, said this was Dorn's third offense and was therefore considered a felony.

Cannon said Dorn plead guilty to two other charges of fraudulently obtaining food coupons on Dec. 9 and 16, 1980.

He said all the alleged offenses occurred between July of 1975 and October of 1979.

Cannon said Dorn failed to report the amount of commission income bonuses her husband made during the four year period to the Hancock County Welfare Department, thus fraudulently obtaining the amount of $7,250.

He said the welfare department determines what each consumer will receive in food coupons by the amount of income declared.

Cannon said, Eric Peterson, investigator for the Hancock County Welfare Department, determined the amount of money fraudulently obtained from that welfare office during an investigation into Dorn's alleged illegal activities.

The assistant district attorney said a first offense is a fine of not less than $100 and no more than $1,000, imprisonment in the county jail of no more than one year, or both.

"A new law now makes a third offense a felony," he stated.

Bits 'n pieces

We have had reports of mail boxes being battered on Felicity Street by one of its residents.

As most of you know, it is a Federal violation to tamper with someone's mail box.

Maximum penalty is very high for persons proven guilty of destroying mail boxes.

It seems that there is a spell of this silly mischief every year. We feel it is time for everyone to grow up and be adults.

When we throw figures like 44,103 around, that is getting up there in numbers.

In 1980, the first season for Buccaneer State Park's Wave Pool operation, the facility drew 44,103 visitors, and that is a lot of folks.

According to the last census report for Hancock County, 44,103 almost doubles our residential population of 24,000.

The Wave Pool is now open on Saturday and Sunday until May 25 for daily operation.

We hope everyone will enjoy the Wave Pool this summer.

Easter Sunrise Service, annually sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, will be on the lawn of Christ Episcopal Church.

We hope everyone of you will make an effort to attend Sunday morning at 6 a.m.

The special sunrise service will be conducted by area ministers.

The purr of lawnmowers means that summer is only a step away.

There is a need for more than just the cutting of grass to clean up many yards.

Piles of junk and just about anything you can think of stands out as you drive down many streets of our communities.

We hope an all-out effort will be made by everyone in cleaning up our yards.

April 25 is only a few days away and we hope everyone will celebrate "Keep America Beautiful Day."

Please help by cleaning up!

Washington Report

FOREIGN POLICY BEGINS CLOSE TO HOME

When we in Congress debate foreign policy affairs, it could be we can't see the forest for the trees.

Our country's foreign policy actually begins close to home with our neighbors to the north, Canada, and to the south, Mexico. As a nation, we have overlooked the fact that geographic proximity doesn't automatically mean close friendship.

Because of the strategic importance of our North American neighbors, President Reagan has been keenly interested in developing closer ties. Recently, he met with Mexican President Lopez Portillo and last week he spent two days on an official visit to Canada.

One newspaper account of President Reagan's summit meeting with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau concluded that a friendly working relationship was established. The report said there would be a favorable climate for continued talks on foreign affairs, environmental concerns, energy issues and fishing rights.

There is every reason to believe that is true and, hopefully, a better relationship is on the way.

During his visit, President acknowledged that the U.S. in the past few years has not been as solid and stable an ally and trading partner as it should be with Canada. But once the U.S. economy returns to health, he said, the situation will get better.

Perhaps the most important message the President delivered in Canada had to do with his call for the two nations to stand together for the integrity of the Western Hemisphere.

His reference was to El Salvador, where communist-inspired rebels are attempting to overthrow the ruling junta. The U.S. has dispatched military equipment; a few advisers and economic aid to the country to keep the junta in power.

The problem in El Salvador indicates that foreign intrusion and terrorism in the Western Hemisphere are acute concerns, concerns that the U.S., Canada and Mexico should share equally. There should be a mutual interest in a settlement in El Salvador.

While the U.S. and Canada talked, they found areas of agreement, such as not supporting a U.S.-U.S.S.R. summit until the Soviet threat to Poland is removed. Since foreign policy begins close to home, I am pleased that direct dialogue is taking place. More than that, though, I hope a three-way summit between the U.S., Canada and Mexico will be held soon to demonstrate that the nations of North America will stand together against all threats to peace and security.

U.S. AGENTS MUST BE PROTECTED

U.S. agents who risk life and limb to ners of the globe for use in American policy-making are among the least appreciated people in the in government.

We send them out into unfriendly environments, expect them to be accurate in their assessments and then, for practical purposes, fail to give them the support they need.

Especially since the 1975 murder of agent Richard Welch in Greece, the intelligence agent's job has become even more frightful. Now they have to worry more about their identities being disclosed and, beyond that, their lives being taken because of that disclosure.

The U.S. Government is obligated to maintain a force of intelligence agents, with the C.I.A. being the focal point for individuals who care so much about their government that they put their lives in jeopardy. They simply don't need the added on-the-job hazard of potential disclosure by certain publications.

Welch's murder came after his identity was disclosed in such a publication and his death signaled a clear need for the Congress to apply some balance to the performance of U.S. intelligence activities.

After a briefing by the C. I. A. last week, I joined with a bi-partisan group of House leaders in supporting legislation designed to protect the identity of agents whose work and identity is considered classified information.

The bare fact is that the identities of 1,800 C.I.A. agents have been disclosed in the past two years. Such disclosure caused great problems in recruiting individuals to serve in this field. It also hampers the work of agents already in place by threatening to compromise them.

I fully agree that the work of the C.I.A. and other intelligence-gathering agencies should be conducted in secret because of the essential national security interests involved. Disclosure of their names, in my view, threatens the national security of the U.S.

Joe Taconi will be missed in Bay St. Louis.

After 43 years of public life, he retired.

His retirement was perhaps his greatest single achievement, for no longer occupied with demands of a work-day week, Taconi made splendid use of his time cultivating tomatoes, figs, flowers and friends.

Small of stature and great of heart, Joe Taconi will be remembered for his humorous recollections of early days in Hancock County.

He'll be remembered, too, for his well-tended garden which he grew with pride and pleasure.

Produce was definitely "not for sale" — the sunflower seeds were for his birds, the flowers and produce were little surprises for friends.

Yes, Joe Taconi's retirement life was a lesson.

At long last there was time for friendly, leisurely conversations — time to coax life from the good earth — time to meditate.

And in his musing he expressed this truism: "When I can no longer work the ground, I want to return to it."

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism

I've already announced for a local office and have my name on the list of candidates in the local paper. But I need to run some ads. What should they say, and who should I get to do them? I'm New To Politics.

Dear Sir: Unless you want to sink a bundle of money into something that might not work, you need to do them yourself. Well, not exactly by yourself, but without an outside political expert, anyway.

They should say what you tell the voters as you visit them and discuss their day-to-day concerns. And the only real help you'll need will be the folks at your local newspaper.

Don't try to be super-smart and professional — be yourself. You can't fool the folks who know you anyway, so there are no odds to trying.

As you campaign you have probably developed a regular line, or opening, by try to incorporate this as a theme for your ads. Then simply give your positions on what you think are the major areas of concern of the office you are seeking.

Again, develop this from the people you have talked with for they know better than you do what is expected from the office you seek.

Then write out your ads in your own style, incorporating sample questions if it helps. Don't be afraid of grammar or spelling at this point. Just write what you believe.

Then your newspaper ad person, or anyone else you select, can read it through and make necessary corrections.

As for the form of the message in the paper, let the newspaper folks make suggestions.

You must remember that they are in the business to make a profit so don't expect too much of their time or space for nothing. But they will be helpful.

Ask for their ideas about presenting your message, and it will help if you have selected a copy of the paper with several ad sizes and formats so you will have some ideas of your own.

To get some estimate of what you need, count the words in your ad and compare it with other ads you see of similar length.

But above all, be yourself. Write simply, and write as if you were talking to a voter with your ad. If it sounds awkward when read aloud, change it to something you would or could comfortably say.

You don't need to say everything in every ad — make a plan for outlining your campaign and follow it ad by ad. And, good luck in your effort.

MISSISSIPPI

NEWS

The principal architect of President Reagan's economic program will keynote the Mississippi Economic Council's Annual Membership Meeting scheduled for April 22 at the Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson.

Dr. Norman B. Ture, Under Secretary of the Treasury for Tax and Economic Policy, has been described as the Administration's most learned supply side economist, according to Annual Meeting Chairman Bernie Smith III, an Oxford bank executive.

"America at the Crossroads" is the theme of the Council's 32nd annual session — the largest convocation of business and professional leadership in the state.

Also scheduled to appear at the three-session event are one of the nation's top young educators, Dr. Chester Finn, Jr., who will outline his prescription for improving education at the luncheon session, and the president of Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, William J. Taylor, who will discuss national and state transportation problems during the afternoon session.

Dr. Ture, who will address the evening banquet session, has a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago and began his career 20 years ago as a tax analyst with the Treasury Department.

He has served on the economic task forces of former presidents John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon, and has also testified as an expert witness before Congressional committees a number of times. During the 1970s Ture was a self-employed economic consultant who came to be regarded as a spokesman for business. Ture's books have been published by such institutions as the Heritage Foundation, the Financial Executives Research Foundation, the Tax Foundation, the National Realty Committee, Inc., and the American Enterprise Institute.

"Dr. Ture has been described by THE NEW YORK TIMES as the principal designer of the Reagan Administration's tax package," said MEC Chairman Lewis F. Mallory, Jr., a Starkville bank executive. "He is an advocate of the long-unorthodox 'supply side' view toward tax revision, which promotes cutting taxes to encourage investment."

"When President Reagan outlined his tax program to Congress, it reflected in major proportions the ideas and philosophies of Dr. Ture," Mallory said.

"The April 22 meetings are open to all MEC members, their business associates, friends and others interested in the future of the nation and state," said Smith. "Full information has been mailed to the membership, and members are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear discussed some of the most important issues affecting the state and nation."

Dear Sir:

As our 1980-81 school year quickly comes to an end there are several belated "thank you's" that I would like to express to so many for making this year a quiet but successful year for the Hancock North Central Band Program.

First, to Mr. Billy Sills, superintendent of education and members of the Hancock County School Board for making possible our trip to New York City to participate in the Macy's Day Thanksgiving Parade; a trip that will not soon be forgotten by Lisa, Darrell and myself. Gentlemen, thank you for your continued support, for it takes time and patience to rebuild a successful band program.

On behalf of the high school band and myself, we would like to thank the following people for their thoughtful and unselfish contributions: Joyce Ladner and Mrs. Cleo Dunhurst of the VFW Post No. 6285, Kiln, for donating four State Flag and accessories; Mr. J.P. Compretta, state representative, for our American Flag; Mr. Henry Prevou and Mrs. John Wilkerson of the American Legion Post No. 139 for their generous donation of $500; and Mr. Pete Chapman on behalf of Nerelds for donating our Spring Banquet tickets.

As a final note, the band and I would like to express our congratulations to Glen Page and Carolyn Hamilton, directors; Gary Adam, drum major and members of the Tiger Pride Band for their outstanding performance and superior ratings won at this year's Mississippi State Band Festival.

We thank God that no one was seriously injured in their most unfortunate accident.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society would like to take this means to thank all its friends who attended the chicken dinner last Saturday. It was an outstanding success. Not only was the food delicious, the atmosphere, we were told, was relaxing and enjoyable.

Our master chefs, Mrs. Shirley Cox and Mrs. Margie Walker, prepared the complete menu alone. As anyone who has ever done this sort of thing can attest, it is hard, demanding work. Being true professionals these two ladies make it look easy. The Society is deeply grateful to our indispensable chefs.

Society members, and some non-members, joined in to serve and work together to make the dinner the success it was. We thank these kind people for their cheerful labor.

While we are expressing our appreciation, high on our list is our gratitude to our friends, the Sea Coast Echo and radio station WXGR for their excellent publicity. A fund raising event such as ours is worthless without advertisement. We are fortunate in this area for such fine coverage.

The entrance prize was won by Mrs. Jean Gleim of Waveland.

The spay-neuter program is open again, we are happy to say. True, we have such a backlog of requests that I may have to be closed soon. However there is hope for a quick re-opening: our semi-annual rummage sale will be held the first weekend in May. The proceeds from that will also be used for spay-neuter.

If anyone has rummage to donate, please call us for pick-up at 467-9548 or 467-5765.

The Society again thanks all our friends for helping us to help you and we stress the fact that we could not succeed without your support.

Sincerely,

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS GIVE, BUT GIVE WISELY!

Attorney General Bill Allain cautioned consumers today to be aware of various con schemes operating throughout Mississippi involving the solicitation of money by individuals claiming to represent various fictitious charitable organizations.

Allain states that Mississippians are charitable people, but in some instances, however, our charitable natures are taken advantage of by those who solicit for phony charities in order to enrich themselves. The present laws offer consumers little protection against such operators, and individual caution remains essential.

Here are some helpful tips to keep in mind before giving:

—Never contribute to a charity you don't know anything about.

—Never allow yourself to be pressured into making a contribution.

—Don't feel that you have to make the contribution on the spot; ask for literature about the charity and use this to check on its authenticity.

—Don't be fooled by names: very often a crooked charity will have a most impressive sounding name.

—Don't give merely because of "tear jerking" "hard luck" stories told by solicitors. Find out how the charity benefits those for whom it is collecting funds.

—If selling merchandise such as candy or magazine subscriptions, ask how much goes to the sponsoring organization.

—A check should be made out to the organization instead of to an individual. —Is a source provided for obtaining further information.

For additional information contact your Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P. O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205.

The Cross

I heard a preacher speak tonight,
It was about the cross
Where Jesus hung — He was the Light;
He hung there for the lost.

There was a dead and lonely tree
With cross-arms extended wide,
One in the center was for each "me"
His arms bring the world inside.

Draw a line to each end of the cross
Four triangles there you see
Each pointing to the Center
One who died for you and me.

An inner circle there is found
One long line of the cross leads to the ground;
One short arm points us to the sky
Arms of Jesus extended wide —
To enfold the whole wide world inside.

Bay school trustees hear money requests

By BRENT MAGEE

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District was confronted with requests for money from all angles at their regular meeting Monday night at Bay Senior High School.

Peggy Tedford, choral director at the high school, was first to ask the trustees for assistance with the vocal music program.

Tedford teaches students at both the junior and senior high school. The trustees, who meet in the superintendent's office, were invited to visit the cafeteria to hear some 25 student choral members sing several songs.

After the students completed their performance and left the school, Tedford took the opportunity to stress her concern for the vocal music course. "Eight years ago you would have seen 100 students participating," Tedford said.

She explained that the choral program has been in existence in the school system for 68 years but is currently dying.

"Death can come as a friend or an enemy," she said, "In this case it is coming as an enemy."

She explained the need for continuing the choral program and adding a vocal music teacher for the elementary school.

The elementary schools have one teacher currently teaching at that level.

Tedford said the students receive only 25 minutes of training per week and stated the standard accreditation books recommends 20 minutes of training per day per class. She blamed the lack of enthusiasm at the high school level on the lack of elementary school training.

"We need to reach children in the elementary schools," Tedford said.

She added an elementary program would solve other problems faced by the senior high group, including finding qualified pianists to accompany the singers. She stated the vocal music course helps develop student's communications, cooperation, self discipline and creativity.

The teacher ended the speech by stating her fear of rumors that her class room will be taken away in the future to make room for incoming ninth grade students scheduled to be moved from Bay Junior High School to the senior high for the 1981-82 school year.

Superintendent J.D. McCullough told Tedford she would continue to have a place to work in the future.

Tuesday, McCullough said rumors have been circulating everywhere that this program or that program is going to be cut out.

"We are going to have to be doing some belt tightening," McCullough said.

He said many things could be affected, including transportation, athletics, physical education, and curriculum, as well as the choral group.

He said moving the ninth grade will add 155 students to the high school.

"We do not want to cut anything unless we have to," he said.

Robert Warner, chairman of the Educational Needs Assessment Committee, addressed the trustees when they returned to the superintendent's office.

"When you formed this committee you forgot to give us any money," Warner said.

Warner said committee members have already spent $46 of their own money and need approximately $200 to have the report typed, finalized and reproduced.

Trustees stipulated the item is a non-budgeted item but agreed to pay the cost if the total bill is around $200.

Rogers James, North Bay Elementary School principal addressing the trustees as president of that school's Parent Teacher's Organization, requested the trustees pay $3,000 for 50 new ceiling fans for the elementary school.

James said cost for fans and installation will be around $11,000, and stated PTO members will pay $7,000.

He said the requested 52-inch Hunter fans cost $184 each and said the total purchase price will be approximately $9,000 with an additional $3,000 installation cost.

Trustee President Walter Turcotte asked James to give the trustees a financial statement of PTO receipts and disbursements for the past four years.

James agreed to do so.

The trustees agreed to advertise for the Hunter fans and then advertise for installation of the fans while agreeing to pay additional costs needed for persons to oversee correct installation.

In further business the trustees approved advertising for a milk shake machine for the Bay Senior High School cafeteria estimated to cost $6,000.

Kelly McQueen, business manager for the school district, said the machine would be installed in the cafeteria to give students the option of having a hot lunch with regular glass of milk or a sandwich lunch with a milk shake.

McCullough said the machine had the approval of Lillian Blaize, cafeteria manager, and stated, "If she thinks it's a good idea than you can be assured she has looked at other school systems and checked their cafeteria programs."

Bay High School Principal Robert Magee said the machine will make between 150 to 200 milkshakes in one hour and will be used as a 'substitute' meal plan.

"It has been very successful in other schools," he said.

He added, students utilizing the free lunch programs will also be able to use the machine and there will be no cost for a milk shake by any student.

McCullough said, "We can try one at the senior high and if it doesn't work then we can stop it."

Also during the meeting, the trustees:

—Accepted the resignations of Eddie Carnley, assistant baseball and football coach along with the resignation of senior high math teacher Claude Yarbrough.

—Approved sabbatical leave for William Sanders for one year;

—Granted McCullough authority to have a school bus repaired at the fastest most convenient repair shop at lowest bid price. That bus was damaged during a Bay High Band members' return trip from Jackson.

McCullough said the insurance company estimated damages at $4,181 and has agreed to pay hospital expenses for students treated after the accident.

—Viewed an application for eligible Earth, Edolia Barros of Slidell, attendance areas which will later be submitted to the board for signatures before being submitted to the State Department of Education for Title I funding;

—Approved to advertise for maintenance and repairs of typewriters and office machines;

The trustees went into executive session at the end of the meeting to discuss student hearings.

seconds before 'Columbia' landed.

The gear rapidly lowered into position and a heartfelt round of applause rose from the speechless crowd.

When the spacecraft landed resounding cheers and applause filled the auditorium.

Just after the orbiter rolled to a stop the television screen was abruptly turned off to the obvious discontent of the audience.

Lee Tilton of Waveland, deputy director of the Earth Resources Laboratory, said, "I worked in the Apollo program and I wish today I was with the shuttle program."

"The same dedication we saw in the Apollo program is evident in the shuttle project," Tilton stated.

"But the success of the shuttle program has much more impact on our society for the future. This mission marks a milestone which opens space travel for everyone," he explained.

Bill Hector of Pass Christian, a Pan Am engineer, stated, "This is a much more emotional experience, more than anything."

Hector noted he drove to Cape Canaveral, Fla. to view the Sunday launch which he described as beautiful and spectacular.

Regarding the landing, the engineer said, "I'm ready to cry because I'm so happy that those guys are back safe and we're back into the space program."

"Today was really worthwhile due to the years of effort by thousands of people," he noted.

"Today we're number one and really went out ahead of the Russians. And we're really number one because a free country will share this technological accomplishment with other nations," Hector explained.

In reference to events just prior to the landing, Hector said he was awed with the 'chase' plane television transmission and stated, "It was like we were really coming down with the extremely proud to have played such a vital part in the first shuttle flight."

"I was relieved when that landing gear came down and all the tires were inflated," he added.

"We can say now that 'Columbia' has landed and America has arrived as the leader in space travel," Hector stated.

Dewey Little of Slidell, NASA stractor personnel here who worked as assistant manager of NSTL operations, very hard in the developmental testing said, "This is a most significant event," and certification of these engines, and "This makes me proud to be a NASA employee and an American. I think this is the most significant event for mankind so far as technology is concerned," he stated.

"I think the whole mission went far, far better than anticipated," Little reported.

Regarding events during the landing,

Little noted, "I was most relieved when we first heard from the astronauts after re-entry. All other missions we utilized unmanned space vehicles, but we didn't on this flight."

"This mission went so smoothly I think we will make up the 2.5-year delay in the program," he stated.

Little echoed Young's comment that "everything went perfectly as advertised."

Elva Smith of Long Beach, NSTL information services supervisor with Pan Am, stated, "There's no way to describe the feeling watching the shuttle landing. It was quite an experience."

"When the wheels touched down I would have loved to have been at Edwards Air Force Base to witness the shuttle landing," Smith said.

"It's just good to know the astronauts are back down and the whole mission Am engineer, stated, "This is a much more emotional experience, more than anything."

Lisa Monti of Bay St. Louis, Pan Am information officer, noted, "Everyone was so interested in the mission and the launch which he described as beautiful and spectacular."

"The news media was so anxious to see this mission be a success and stuck out waiting for the launch under adverse conditions," Monti reported.

"The entire flight from beginning to end was extraordinary and I'm ready for the next mission," she said.

In reference to highlights during the landing, Monti stated, "The voice contact after re-entry and when the country will share this technological accomplishment with other nations," Monti noted.

"We all felt we played a part in making this mission a success," she added.

Jerry Hlass of Long Beach, NSTL manager, stated, "All of us at NSTL are extremely proud to have played such a vital part in the first shuttle flight."

"The main engines, which performed beautifully to help boost 'Columbia' into orbit, were tested and flight certified by our NASA and contractor personnel," Hlass reported.

"It is a tribute to NASA and contractor personnel here who worked so hard in the developmental testing and certification of these engines, and to the thousands of Americans involved in the shuttle program since its inception," he explained.

"History was made with this successful flight and landing of 'Columbia' and we can all remember with pride our contribution," Hlass added.

As the shuttle orbiter returned to Earth, Edolia Barros of Slidell, Visitor's Center souvenir shop general manager, was busily arranging and ordering shuttle memorabilia which is available to the general public.

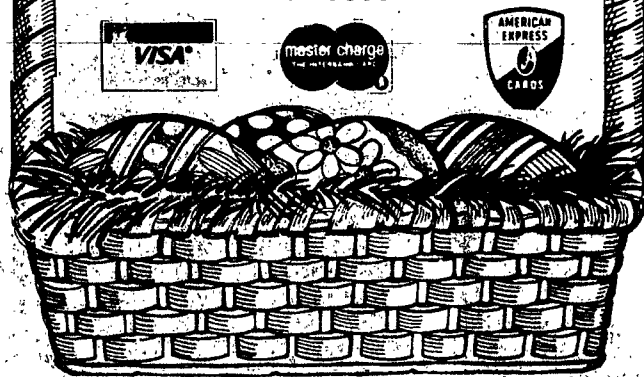

Shuttle souvenirs now on sale include wallets, space pens, a plastic model kit, cast metal models, various official patches, a "Space Shuttle 101" game, commemorative spoons and an official painting print.

Vic Franckiewicz good management

Bay St. Louis must have good management in the mayor's office. There should be clear lines of authority for all city departments to operate efficiently and legally. Our present city employees can do a better job if they are properly organized.

We have to cut unnecessary costs. "Blank check" construction contracts, poor engineering, equipment rental and equipment repairs are major areas of waste.

Establishing a routine maintenance schedule for drainage and utilities and improving street patching procedures will save on costly repairs, and will help improve the appearance of the city.

The savings from good management can help finance permanent improvements in the annexed area and in other parts of town. It is a mayor's job to propose new construction projects and to see that contractors and engineers are held responsible for their work.

Good management requires the mayor to communicate and cooperate with the city council and with the citizens at large. If we all work together, Bay St. Louis will be a better city.

The shovel: a tool which outlives technology

Bob Vereen wrote, "No home...no business...no nation has yet been built without a shovel. That's something few people ever stop to think about. Yet a simple shovel is such a basic tool, so common, so taken for granted, yet so essential to mankind that its origin, fading far into antiquity, is shrouded in mystery. One can think of few products that continue to be needed and used, regardless of wars, depressions, booms or busts."

History books tell of political decisions, of wars, of men who strove for and won public office and who exercised political power; but little is said in conventional history of the striving for better ways of doing things, of the men who brought about the great modern improvements that make living in the world of today so much easier, so much more attractive, so much better than in days gone by.

Shovels are essential on farms, large and small. Can you imagine a farm, even a small one without at least one shovel? Shovels are bought by almost all home owners.

Shovels are the tools that made mining possible, that handled the fuel for steamboats, railway trains and industrial plants all over the world.

They are the tools prospectors have used to search for the riches of the earth as well as a tool used by gardeners and others.

Shovels have been used universally in war and peace. Stores in every town in America, both large and small, sell shovels.

For hundreds of years, yes, for even thousands of years, before the iron age, shovels were made of wood. Where now the iron shovels both dig and shovel the earth, in other days the dirt was loosened up with sharp pointed sticks or other devices and then moved with shovels made of wood.

The hardest woods were used to make shovels. Maple wood was much used. A wood shovel was all in one piece, the shovel part being dug out at one end and a piece of timber, and the other part trimmed down to make the handle. The bit of the wood shovel — the end that was dug into the ground — was made like a scoop seen in grocery stores. It was trimmed down very thin to make it easy to dig into the loose dirt.

The first known steel shovels were made in England to be used in the coal mines of that country. A great amount of experimenting and testing have gone into the development of the shovel as we know it.

The exact shape of the steel shovel has been made in many ways to fit the need of the user, thinking to get much more work done.

The first steel shovels were made too large for the ability of a man to use the all day without tiring out. It was found that a man could do more work in a day with a smaller shovel more suited to his working strength and capacity.

Also, shapes of shovels were changed to make work faster and easier. Today there are many shapes and sizes of shovels to fill the need for the handling of many different things.

Actually, present day shovels have evolved from experiments, use, and tests. Shovels that sell are being made more and more.

Those that don't sell are dropped from further manufacture.

As a young fellow I used to help load car loads of cotton seed. As the cotton seed were light we used a big shovel called a 'scoop', but for handling dirt we, of course, used a smaller, standard size one. There are made today models to fit every need.

I remember seeing the M.J. & K.C. railway being built along about 1903 and 1904, from Mobile through Mississippi to Jackson, Tennessee. There was no dirt handling machinery back then. All this work on the new railway was done by shovels and wheelbarrows.

Railroads could not have been built without shovels. Shovels played a big part in all our wars in building breast works, and other defensive positions. In World War II the U.S. Government bought 11 million trench digging shovels, and within recent years have bought many shovels that fold into a knapsack.

Shovels, however, are sold in much greater numbers for civilian use. In our hardware store in Piquette, we sell hundreds of shovels yearly. We sell them to everybody.

In one day recently I saw three women, who came into our store at different times, carrying out shovels. The sales of many tools used in the old days have declined. Some are no longer made. For instance, very few axes and cross cut saws are sold now compared to 50 years ago.

But more and more shovels are being sold all the time. Actually, in every period of history, including the present, shovels have played an important role; while numerous other tools in general use in the past are no longer being made.

Waveland Seniors schedule egg hunt

The Waveland Senior Citizens will hold their second annual Easter egg hunt Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

The program includes hunts for both children and adults. Prizes will be awarded to those who find the most eggs.

Admission to the hunt is 50 cents a person. The hunt will be held regardless of the weather. Over thirty baskets of prizes have been donated by American Legion Post 77, the Mark Children and Youth Month.

The Riemann Funeral Home and Waveland Senior Citizens, Inc. have also provided prizes.

Free cake and punch have been donated by the Security Savings and Loan Company.

awareness counselor for the school system; and Jan. Wilson, ACDCU chief counselor. Windham said three separate workshops were conducted for parents, students and teachers to generate a basic understanding of the disease of chemical dependency. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

MSU schedules freshman orientation

New students and their parents will have the opportunity to become acquainted first-hand with life at Mississippi State University through one of five June orientation sessions.

While on campus, incoming freshmen and transfers can pre-register for fall semester classes and meet other students, as well as faculty, staff and administrators.

Session dates for freshmen are: June 11-12, 17-19, 27-28. June 13-14 and 25-26 are scheduled for transfer students.

"Orientation is for parents, too, and we encourage them to attend," said orientation director Jimmy Abraham.

"While the parents' program will be separate from the students', they will also have the opportunity to meet university staff and faculty, see the campus, ask questions, and understand the concerns and demands of campus life."

Abraham said the goal of orientation is to provide information on academic majors, financial aid, requirements and guidelines, available student services, special commuter and residential programs, and campus life, and career planning.

"To make things interesting," Abraham added, "we try to present this information in a variety of ways, including slide presentations, small-group 'rap sessions,' campus tours, and meetings with departmental advisors."

Mississippi mosquito tab was $13 million

Last year mosquitoes cost Mississippians an estimated $13 million in terms of loss to livestock and household owners and cost of control.

No areas are too dense, too barren or too isolated for mosquitoes.

They need water to develop. In fact, no natural collection of water occurs without mosquitoes using part of it, says Dr. Pat Harris, area Extension pest management specialist.

Only the females bite and require a blood meal before they can lay fertile eggs, he says.

Eggs may be deposited on the surface of water, on the sides of containers, on the ground close to water or on rafts on water.

They usually hatch in two or three days or within a few days after being flooded.

After hatching, larvae (wigglers) must live in water from four to 10 days. They then enter the pupal stage in water, taking about 14 days to emerge as adults. Uncontrolled adult mosquitoes may live for one to two months and fly from one to 20 miles for blood meals.

"Mosquitoes profoundly affect human and animal health and welfare," he says. "They cause discomfort and irritation by their bites and carry several diseases such as malaria, yellow fever, dengue and filariasis to humans and encephalitis to humans and horses and heartworm to dogs. Effective mosquito control is the basic weapon against epidemics."

There are generally four basic steps in controlling mosquitoes. The first step involves surveying and mapping the target area by ground or aerial methods or both. Aerial maps can help locate target areas. There is no substitute for making a ground survey by foot and marking areas on a map for applying larvicides later, Dr. Harris says.

Still water harbors mosquitoes, and moving water does not. Sanitation plays a big role in mosquito control. Anything that holds water should be removed or destroyed: cans, bottles, old tires. Refuse in city sanitation dumps should be buried. Catch basins and ditches should be located and marked.

The second step is sampling for larvae or wigglers. In early spring, when temperatures are around 70 degrees F or higher for five to six days, eggs usually will start hatching. A dipper or jar may be used to sample suspected breeding sites and record the number of larvae present. Light traps, bait traps or landing rate counts may be used to survey for adult mosquitoes.

The third step is applying larvicides. This is the most effective method of mosquito control. The more larvae that are controlled, the fewer adults it will be necessary to control.

The fourth and final step in mosquito control is killing adults, the last resort for controlling mosquitoes. Adults are more difficult to control because they are not confined to one environment like larvae are confined to water.

Several insecticides are recommended for mosquito control. Some are recommended for larvae or adults or both. Be sure to follow all label precautions and usage patterns before using any pesticide. For further information, contact your local MCES agent.

High school juniors eligible for college

Young women who have completed their junior year in high school will have an opportunity to earn advance college credit this summer by participating in the Pre-College Enrichment Program at Mississippi University for Women.

"The PEP program is designed to supplement and enrich with college-level courses the educational experience of academically superior young women," said Dr. Billy B. Pounds, PEP director.

"PEP provides intellectual development through association with other scholastically gifted students. The program offers early adjustment to college life and acceleration toward a college degree."

Regular college courses will be selected from offerings in the MUW summer school bulletin. In addition, special offerings will include seminar-type courses such as discussions, lectures, films and readings dealing with contemporary issues and problems.

To be eligible, students must score 23 or above on the American College Test. "It is recommended that students who are interested in the program plan to take the ACT test by May 7," Dr. Pounds said. Test scores should be sent to MUW.

For additional information about PEP, interested students may write Dr. Pounds, director of the PEP program, MUW, Columbus, Miss. 39701.

Legal secretaries elect new officers

The Harrison and Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries' Association elected new officers at its regular monthly meeting April 9, at the Best Western Inn in Gulfport.

President Ilyne Stewart presided.

Elected were Maxine Lehoucq, president; Sandra Wedworth, vice-president; Rita Smith, secretary; Nell Angeron, treasurer; Patsy Bishop, governor; and Marilyn Knight, Nali representative.

Guest speaker was George P. Smith, state senator and administrator of the Harrison County Family Court. He discussed the functions of Family Court.

Also attending as a guest was Kim Anderson, employed by Gulfport Attorneys Eaton, Cottrell, Galloway and Lang. Other matters of business conducted were reports given by the outgoing officers and standing committee chairmen and a legal education quiz was conducted by Donna Cave.

Chemistry professor named to NWF board

Delano Deen, an associate professor of chemistry at South Georgia College, has been elected to the National Wildlife Federation's Board of Directors as a regional director representing four southern states and two Caribbean island areas.

Deen, a native Georgian who now lives in Alma, will serve as a regional director for Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. He is a past president of the Catfish Farmers Association, and is currently president of the Hurricane Creed Protective Society and of the Georgia Wildlife Federation, an NWF affiliate.

A successful aquaculturist, Deen was named Georgia's Conservationist of the Year in 1974. He is a 1964 graduate of Georgia Southern College and received an MS in science education from the University of Georgia in 1964.

The National Wildlife Federation, the nation's largest citizens conservation organization, also elected C. Clifton Young of Reno, Nev., as its new president. Elections were held at the concluding session of the federation's 45th annual meeting in Norfolk, Va.

The annual meeting was attended by delegates from 53 states and territories who adopted 41 resolutions guiding federation policy for the coming year.

Included were two which called upon the 97th Congress to reauthorize the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act without any amendments that would lower present air and water quality standards.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

FINANCIAL ADVICE

When financial temptations or problems arise, recognizing them as a problem is the first step in solving them.

Avoid the 'trap' of having nothing left for savings at the end of the month by saving a regular amount of money out of each paycheck before spending.

Compare services offered and their costs. For example, a checking account at one bank may cost less than at another bank but will still meet your needs.

Borrowing to have cash or charging purchases may be costly. Think before borrowing or charging. Know exactly when and how much you will have to pay later as interest.

Buy from an honest, reliable store or dealer where you can return defective merchandise. Know the store's policy on returning purchases and on credit arrangements. Will the store reimburse you in cash? Or will it replace the article returned?

Compare prices, quality, and quantity. Buy the best quality, available for the money you are spending. A higher price does not necessarily indicate better quality.

Know a bargain when you see one. An item 'on sale' is a good buy only if you need and want it, have the money to pay for it, and would have considered buying it at the regular price.

Plan to purchase standard items when sales are offered. Use the customary January and August linen sales, after Christmas reductions, or end-of-season clearances.

Guard against impulse purchases. Several seemingly low-priced items can add up to a sizeable sum. Take a list along when you shop, and stick with it.

Set limits on spending, especially for children when they shop with you. The pleasure from the desired item should be comparable with its price.

Get all guarantees, warranties, contracts, and agreements in writing and make sure you understand what they mean before signing a contract of any kind. A verbal promise or agreement has no value should you need to enforce it through legal action.

Police eyeing suspect

Waveland couple seeking apprehension of dog killer

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Waveland couple is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person or persons who poisoned their pet dog.

Police Chief Donald Dorn says he "has an idea" of who perpetrated the crime, but does not yet have enough evidence to make an arrest.

Vickie and Cort Phillips moved to Aloha Trailer Court in January with their dog Cinnamon.

The Phillips have been married for some three years, but Vickie Phillips raised Cinnamon from a pup over six years ago.

Cinnamon was usually kept on a chain near their front door, but about two weeks ago they let the dog loose for about 10 minutes one night.

The city had collected trash that day, so the Phillips thought it safe to allow Cinnamon some exercise without being concerned about her rummaging through a neighbors garbage can.

Vickie Phillips reports, "Cinnamon scratched at the door, after being outside about 10 minutes, to let us know she was out there and was hurting bad."

"When I went outside she was standing still and shaking all over. Cinnamon was real stiff then she fell over and went into a convulsion. She tried to stand back up, but would just fall back again," she explains.

Terrified, the young housewife called veterinarians Dr. Robert Akers and Dr. H. W. LeBourgeois.

Since LeBourgeois' animal clinic was just a block away they decided to bring their dying pet there.

Phillips states, "When we carried Cinnamon to our car she had come out of the stiffening stage and was breathing heavily."

"She looked up at us in the car as if she were trying to ask us to please help her and was having trouble breathing. She wanted to live so bad," the woman notes.

"LeBourgeois was trying his best to help Cinnamon, but she died on his operating table," she adds.

"She died—a horrible death, something I would hate to see again," Phillips says.

The Waveland veterinarian confirms the Phillips' dog was poisoned with strychnine.

"We've treated about 15 dogs in the last two years for this type of poisoning from the Kiln and Lakeshore Communities and the nearby trailer court," LeBourgeois reported.

"There is no antidote unless the animal is treated within 15 minutes," he says.

"A classical reaction to strychnine poisoning is an animal having a sawhorse appearance which is tonic seizure. An animal looks like it has been electrocuted," he explains.

"Strychnine causes violent tetanic seizures which can be stimulated by sound. A stricken animal might also show signs of nervousness, apprehension, tenseness, stiffness. The pupils dilate and gums turn blue," the veterinarian further explains.

"The only thing I know strychnine is used for is to kill animals. It has been used as an animal poison since the 16th century to kill rats, gophers, moles and coyotes," LeBourgeois says.

"Strychnine has a sweet almond smell and is refined from a plant. The poison is a stimulant and pesticide, but there's no rational basis for using strychnine in any type of therapy," the veterinarian reports.

"Many commercial forms of the poison are tablets which are bright green or red and usually mixed with food when used as a pesticide," he notes.

"Local feed store owners say they don't carry strychnine anymore, but sell Decon instead," LeBourgeois states.

The veterinarian said the poison which killed Cinnamon was mixed with chicken soup.

LeBourgeois emphasizes, although it was not a primary cause in this case, residents of heavily populated areas should keep dogs leashed or confined to an area at all times.

"A lot of times people don't want to talk to a neighbor about a dog problem or a person will say they've talked to a neighbor three times about a dog problem and won't again," he says.

Dorn says witnesses are needed to confirm someone has poisoned an animal.

In reference to other poisonings, Dorn states the Phillips' report is the first he has received.

"LeBourgeois confirmed the Phillips' dog was killed with strychnine and this chemical may now be illegal," the police chief notes.

Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille of the Waveland Police Department says, "There's a state code prohibiting animal poisoning, but we need evidence to make an arrest."

Dorn states, "The person who poisoned the dog could face criminal prosecution. If a dog is worth over $100 it would be a felony charge."

"It is a criminal offense and anyone caught will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law," Dorn adds.

Phillips says, "We have a lot of children in this trailer park and we're afraid these kids might eat something containing this poison."

"If someone in the neighborhood was bothered by our dog, we could have taken her to my parents in Ocean Springs," she states.

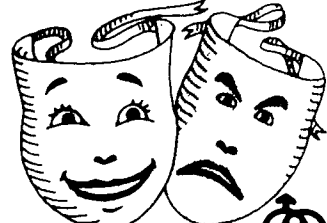

"Everyone we knew in the neighborhood loved our dog," Phillips reports.

"We even had Cinnamon trained to ring some bells at our door when she had to go outside," she sadly recalls.

"Cinnamon was our best friend for years. Our dog was very attached to us and she never bit anyone," Phillips says.

"She was a part of our little family and was really close to us. I hope this terrible thing doesn't happen to another dog or a child," she adds.

Executive sessions limited

Legislature approves fewer county judges

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Mississippi Legislature recently approved laws to drastically reduce the number of Hancock County Justice Court judges and establish executive session criteria for governmental bodies.

Hancock County's Sen. Martin Smith of Poplarville reports, "On Jan. 1, 1984 the number of Justice Court judges will be reduced and the remaining officials will receive salaries (instead of the present fee system) based on county population."

Smith is Senate Judiciary Committee chairman. The senator states the number of judges in Hancock County would be reduced from five to two.

Smith speculates Harrison County would maintain its five judges based on population figures.

"The reason for reducing the number of judges was because once we change to a salary system, county general funds will pay the salaries," he explains.

"This is better than counties not being able to afford five judges. Since the effective date is 1984 the present judges will be able to complete their terms," Smith reports.

"The county will establish two districts for the judges, but these officials would have jurisdiction countywide," he explains.

The senator adds the legislation also eliminates "forum shopping" by requiring cases be filed only in a defendant's resident beat until April 1, 1982.

After that time the county board's of supervisors are required to appoint a Justice Court clerk who will assign cases to judges countywide on a rotating basis.

Smith says, "The House of Representatives insisted on the 1982 date so local judges, attorneys and law enforcement personnel will have a chance to see how the system will work."

The senator expects next year's legislature will speed up transition to a salary system "if another court opinion strikes the fee system."

A recent federal court ruling declared forum shopping unconstitutional which prompted the legislative action.

Smith states, "If prior to 1984 if a majority of the judges ask to be put on salary, the supervisors can vote to do this."

"The legislature left this provision in case another court decision should declare this system unconstitutional," he notes.

In reference to the executive session legislation, Smith said the bill limits to 10 categories what business can be discussed and voted upon in these secret sessions.

Smith says the new law, effective July 1, allows voting in executive session, but the vote must be recorded in meeting minutes.

However, the new law excludes the legislature.

"State law previously legalized executive sessions for any type of business, but this bill limits what action can be taken in certain categories," the senator explains.

"I think we can work under this law for a couple of years," he adds.

"Hancock County's Rep. J.P. Compretta chaired the House subcommittee analyzing this bill and did a fine job getting the proposed law out of the House," Smith reports.

The senator says he has no "personal political problems" with the law excluding the legislature.

"I conduct all sessions openly and it's extremely seldom a House or Senate meeting is conducted in executive session," Smith explains.

Other legislation Smith notes as significant includes:

—Increased drug traffic penalties from a maximum fine of $30,000 with 15 years imprisonment to a $1 million fine with 30 years maximum imprisonment;

—Dropped the drunk driving breathalyzer count to .10;

—Increased highway truck weight limits to 80,000 pounds;

—Strengthened the Medical Examiners Bill to create medical examiner districts headed by pathologists;

—Increased training standards for law enforcement personnel.

Children need nutrition

Many mothers have problems with their children skipping breakfast, eating junk food and turning up their nose at vegetables. Sometimes preparing nutritious food is easier than getting children to eat it. And constant nagging only makes the child more determined to pick at his food. Get to the root of the problem to improve your child's eating habits.

Many young children are overwhelmed by the sight of large portions of food. Use a smaller plate, and serve food in smaller portions. Cut sandwiches into quarters, fruit into bite-sized pieces. Refusing to eat may be the child's way of asserting himself.

Giving him a choice between two foods allows him to make a decision and feel independent. Promote independence by involving the child in the preparation of food and clean-up under close supervision.

When introducing a new food, serve it with an old favorite. Children tend to imitate adults, so be sure family members set a good example of eating and enjoying a variety of foods and keep their dislikes to themselves.

To conquer the sugar habit that many children develop, offer fresh fruits and juices instead of fruits packed in heavy syrup and sweetened drinks. Limit all sweet foods including processed foods with sugar added. Check the label. The ingredients are listed in order to predominance by weight.

Don't use desserts to reward or punish a child. This places too much importance on sweet food. Keep fruits and vegetables peeled and cut up in the refrigerator for snacks instead of keeping cookies in the cookie jar.

For the child who skips breakfast, offer non-traditional foods. There's nothing wrong with a peanut butter sandwich and glass of milk for breakfast. For the child that eats on the run, try a blender-milkshake made with milk, an egg, a scoop of ice cream, and a banana or other favorite fruit.

It's a little easier to control what a young child eats; but as they get older, children eat more meals away from home. It's important to teach children about good nutrition so they will make the right choices no matter where they eat.

Involve them in meal planning, shopping, and cooking one night a week.

Provide the basic guidelines about the food groups, then let them choose the menu. This will help them form good nutrition habits they will never outgrow.

Oak Downs Easter purses top $5,000

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La.—Several Hancock County horses will be going after more than $5,000 in purses up for grabs Easter Sunday at Oak Downs.

One of the favorites to win one of two divisions of open competition for quarterhorses is Oscar Meyer, owned by Oswald Moran and trained by his son Clyde Moran. The Morans are from The Kiln. Horse owners are putting up $500 each as entry money.

Oscar Meyer posted a Class AAA clocking of :18.24 for 350 yards in his last outing two weeks ago at Oak Downs, and ran second by one-half length last month in a $3,000 race.

Ten top horses are entered in Sunday's quarterhorse feature, including one by Milton Favre of Hancock County.

Pat Ladner of Hancock County has an entry in the two-year-old quarterhorse feature.

In last week's racing at Oak Downs, the lone Hancock County horse to visit the winner's circle was Ultra Royal, owned and trained by James Watson of Waveland.

Ultra Royal beat Go Momma Go by one-half length and was timed in :21.26 seconds for the 400 yards.

Marty Comfort of Hancock County was aboard Ultra Royal, and also won two other races on the 12-race card.

Dee Dee's Boy, owned and trained by Bill Gore of Lacombe, set a new meet record for six furlongs in the first race. Dee Dee's Boy was clocked in 1:18.57 and handily beat At My Convenience, owned by Don Goss of the Ceasar community, and Brother Billy C.

The previous best time for six furlongs this year was 1:18.80, run by Jason Dee on Jan. 18.

The closest race of the day was in the 350-yard fifth as Miss Fiber Test, owned by Elmo Harless, Hattiesburg, nipped Little Knot, owned by Buck Pierce of Wiggins. Miss Fiber Test was timed in :18.56 while Little Knot was close behind at :18.565.

Prince, a pony owned by Kristi Mulford of Wiggins, remained undefeated at Oak Downs with an easy win over Little Jimmy, owned by Jimmy Rushing of Pearl River.

Leo Fricke of Picayune led all riders with four wins Sunday.

Tigers come from behind to defeat Notre Dame

By RANDY PONDER
David Strong slugged a two run double in the bottom of the seventh inning to power the Bay High Tigers to a 5-4 high school baseball win over the visiting Notre Dame Rebels Monday night.

Trailing 4-3, Dennis Manieri reached on an error to lead off the final frame. Bobby Richardson drew a base on balls before Strong brought both base runners home with his second two base hit of the ball game.

Notre Dame took an early lead with two runs in the first but the Tigers tied the contest in the second. Harold Netto hit a long fly ball to the left field ence and two runs scored when the left fielder mishandled the ball.

The Rebels again took the lead with another run in the fourth and again Bay High knotted the game an inning later. This time Scotty Adam connected with a clutch, two out single for an RBI.

Notre Dame added a run in the sixth frame.

Scotty Adam went the distance for the win, to even his record at 4 wins and 4 losses. He struck out seven, issued one walk, and allowed four hits.

The Tigers are 10-7 and will entertain the d'Iberville Warriors Saturday at 7 p.m. for the final game of the season.

The "B" team will play two hours earlier at 5 p.m.

The "B" team's record is 7 wins and 3 losses. They also got past Notre Dame, 7-3.

Arcement, Fells spark Junior All-Star game

Pearl River's Barry Arcement and Johnny Fells came off the bench to help spark the South to an easy 117-88 win over the North in the annual Mississippi Junior College All-Star basketball game held at Holmes Junior College last week.

Arcement and Fells were both perfect from the field and free throw line in netting 11 points apiece. South coach, Billy Holmes of Pearl River, inserted his sophomore stars midway through the first half, and watched his squad build a 55-40 intermission lead.

Stanley Ward of Jones led all South scorers with 20 points, while Pat Hare of Mississippi Delta, hit for game-high honors, collecting 21 points to pace the North.

UNOFFICIAL SEAWALL RECORD—Elaine Trosclair of Longo Street in Waveland is believed to have set a seawall record for bull reds with this 11.25-pounder she took along the Beach Road about 1.5 blocks east of Lakeshore Road about 4 p.m. Monday. Carmel's Seafood personnel, where the fish was weighed, said they believe the biggest red previously caught from the seawall weighed in at about nine pounds. Trosclair, using a Zebco 404 with 15-pound test line, fought this big one for some 15 minutes before bringing it to the steps. She was fishing with daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yetter of Oxnard, Ca. and friend Mary Stock of Waveland. They were using market bait. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

State Conservation Department urges safe boating practices

Richard K. Yancey, executive director of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation was elected president of the Southeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies last week in Tallahassee, Fla.

The selection came just three weeks after Yancey was notified by the National Wildlife Federation in Washington that he was selected to receive its "Connie Award" as wildlife conservationist of the year.

The Southeastern is a 16-state organization of fish and wildlife agencies from Texas to Maryland. The association sponsors an annual conference each fall attended by some 1,100 wildlife professionals in the fields of game, fisheries, law enforcement, information and education and hunter safety.

According to Yancey, the Southeastern association participates in all matters affecting fish and wildlife resource management at the regional and national levels.

SAFE BOATING

Water safety officials at the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation are saying that the state's approximate 110,000 boaters should not wait until the last minute to ready their crafts for spring and summer fishing, water skiing and boating fun.

"Probably the most important things to have in a general recreation and fishing boat under 16 feet are Coast Guard approved personal flotation devices, or combination of devices for each person on board," Yancey explained. He said that there are some 74,596 boats of this type across the state registered with the Department.

"We cannot stress too much how important it is to have the necessary safety and required equipment on board each boat while it is operational," Yancey said.

According to Department figures, 28 persons across the state died in boating accidents in 1980, while 97 persons died in water related activities like swimming. Another 42 persons were involved in boating accidents.

Department officers reported over 3,000 boating law violations during the 1979 season. "Our men will be out checking again this year," Yancey said.

Yancey indicated that agency conservation officers will be inspecting closely for safety equipment. Officers also will check boat registration certificates and determine if the craft is properly numbered. Officers will be checking to see that boats have proper lighting when operated at night.

Officials are reminding skiers that in addition to the boat operator and those skiing, there must be an observer on board above 10 years of age.

Yancey explained that boats over 16 feet must have various equipment items on board when the craft is operated.

Boats measuring 16 feet to less than 26 feet must provide a wearable personal flotation device for each passenger and have at least one throwable type on board. It must be equipped with one hand, mouth or power operated sound device.

Crafts from 26 feet to less than 40 feet must have on board one hand, or power operated bell, in addition to at least one or several types of approved fire extinguishers.

Safety officials say that boats from 40 to 65 feet are required to have a power operated whistle, audible at least one mile, in addition to a special bell. Each craft must have several types of special fire extinguishers.

"These are some of the required items of equipment for each type boat," Yancey said. "Our boat and water safety section recommends that owners have such items as a paddle and anchor on board when they are on the water."

He went on to say that canoes, kayaks and sailboats have their own special requirements. These, he said, are outlined in a new, free brochure produced by the Department. Discussed in the pamphlet are such things as detailed requirements for various sized boats, recommended equipment, rules of the road, navigational aids and more.

For a free copy boaters should write Safe Boating, Department of Wildlife Conservation, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, Ms. 39205.

Stanley Ward of Jones led all South scorers with 20 points, while Pat Hare of Mississippi Delta, hit for game-high honors, collecting 21 points to pace the North.

Sallinger takes PRC tennis win

Pearl River's Fran Sallinger and Debbie Howard combined to sweep straight sets of 6-4, 6-4, over Jones' Laura and Lissa Crumpton to produce one of two bright spots in the Wildcats' 6-2 loss to Jones in a dual tennis match last Thursday in Ellisville.

Sallinger and Howard make up the A doubles women's team and with the win, upped their duo record to 2-0.

The other bright spot for Pearl River in the Jones contest and for the young season, has been the women's B doubles team of Tadora Hookfin and Lawana Johnson. In Ellisville, the team registered a forfeit win to bring their combined mark to 3-0 for the year.

In the A doubles for men, Cliff Crandall and Reed Houston dropped a 1-6, 3-6 match as did the B doubles squad of Don Lewis and John Ramano 1-6, 1-6.

Singles players for the men had a tough day against the Bobcats. A singles player, Don Fayard, fell 1-6, 2-6 and B singles, Mike Williamson lost a 1-6, 0-6 match.

For women, Susan Corley was defeated 0-6, 1-6 in B action and Debbie Cox forfeited in A singles.

The loss to Jones brought the Wildcats team tennis record to 0-3.

Fish have been seen at ocean depths of almost 7 miles.

10,000 meter run scheduled Saturday

By EDGAR PEREZ

A good turnout of runners and joggers from Hancock County is expected Saturday in the third annual Pizza Hut Gulf Coast Classic championship run.

Dennis Stabler, manager of the Bay St. Louis Pizza Hut, said entry blanks for the event, to be hosted by Mississippi Gulf Coast Jogging Club, are available at his store on US-90.

Winner of the 10,000 meter (6.3 miles) run will be crowned the state champion. A two-mile "fun run" is also planned in conjunction with the major event.

Starting time and location for both runs are at 8 a.m. at the West Gulfport Pizza Hut one mile west of the US-90 and Hwy. 49 intersection.

Registration will be conducted Friday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Best Western Motel and Saturday at the starting line from 6 to 7:45 a.m.

Registration fee is $5.

Classic runners will proceed east on US-90 to Howe Avenue, north to Second Street, west on Second Street to 20th Avenue, south on 20th Avenue to the Yacht Harbor, past the Small Boat Harbor and finish at the Rice Pavilion.

Fun-runners will turn right off US-90 onto 20th Avenue and follow the same course to the Rice Pavilion.

Divisions for men and women include 12-and-under, 13 through 17, 18 through 24, 25 through 29, 30 through 34, 35 through 39, 40 through 44, and 45 and over.

Oldest and youngest entrants in the 10,000 meter race will be awarded running shoes by the Converse Co.

Two shirts and certificates will be awarded to all finishers in both races.

division winner in the 10,000 meter event.

Plaques will be awarded to first, second and third overall winners and to winners in each age division in both races, with a race hat going to second and third place winners in the age divisions.

Special rates are being offered to participants by Best Western and Holiday Inn.

A runners clinic is to be presented Friday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Best Western featuring several noted authorities on running and training.

In addition Mississippi who will present the state in this summer's Miss USA Pageant on the Coast will attend the workshop.

FISHIN' TIPS

from Tom Mann

FROM THE MAIL BAG

One of the most-often-asked questions when I speak at a seminar is "How do you find bass on a lake you've never fished before?"

Well, first you've got to keep in mind the kinds of cover bass live in, like: weedybeds, lily pads, brush, flooded timber, reeds, overhanging trees, riprap, rocky shore bordering deep water, bridge abutments, piers, etc. I just cruise around the lake looking for such cover and fishing it with a variety of lures.

I use a variety because you can never be sure what of mister bass wants at any time of day. That goes for his old lady, too. So, I let the bass tell me by offering it a buffet of lures. I give them ten casts with each one.

I may begin by teasing a top-water lure, like one with a spinner at the tail, near shore cover. Then, I switch to a floating-diving lure. Next a sinking spinner type, like Little George, at various depths. Then I wind up nudging the bottom with a jellyworm. One or the other usually works!

BRER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: Keep your hooks sharp, podnuh. It takes a good point to penetrate the jaws of most fish. I recommend using a good, fine-grain file and dressing the hook point until it bites easily into your thumbnail.

Softball team seeks players

Wildcat lady softballers win first league victories

Pearl River College's Lady Wildcat softball team won its first games ever last week by beating East Central 13-8 and 9-3 and Lo-Lin 3-2.

In other action during the same week the Lady 'Cats dropped a close decision to the league-leading Hinds 10-6 and 8-5. PRC also lost 6-3 to the Co-Lin Lady Wolves.

"We are certainly improving," said Larry Stanford, PRC coach. "Our defense and pitching have improved 200 percent over the performances earlier in the year."

Stanford said he hoped his team could peak at state playoff time which begins at Meridian, Friday, April 24.

The bottom of the fourth inning proved to be the deciding factor in a doubleheader sweep by Pearl River over East Central, 13-8, 9-3, in women's softball Monday on the Wildcat diamond.

In the opener, the Lady Cats broke an 8-8 deadlock in the bottom of the fourth as Faith Harrell blasted a home-run and Sharmin Sanderlin, Picayune, added a two-run shot.

Harrell greeted East Central's first pitch of the frame and sent it sailing over the leftfielder's head to give the Lady Cats a 9-8 advantage.

Following a ground out, Rose Lofton singled to left, setting the stage for Sanderlin, who jumped on an 1-0 pitch and drove it to deep centerfield allowing Pearl River to up its lead to 11-8 after four innings.

Two insurance runs in the fifth gave the Lady Cats their initial win of the season, as Lisa Essary picked up the victory on the mound. Harrell and Lofton led the Lady Cat attack at the plate, each going two-for-four.

Pearl River again used a big rally in the bottom of the fourth to erase a 2-0 East Central lead in the nightcap and send the Lady Cats on to complete the sweep.

Renee Dubose opened the bottom frame with a walk and was moved to second on Nita Boudreaux's fielder choice. Four consecutive singles by Harrell, Gwen Breland, Lofton, and Taffy Snowden, helped the Lady Cats cross the plate four times in the inning and Pearl River never looked back.

A five-run outburst in the bottom of the fifth sealed victory number two, as again four consecutive hits, including Lofton's grand-slam homer, spurred the Lady Cat rally.

Gwen Breland notched the win on the mound for the Cats with Harrell going a perfect three-for-three at the plate. Lofton and Snowden contributed two safeties in three at-bats to round out the Lady Cat offensive attack.

Against Co-Lin the Lady Wildcats used a tough defense and excellent baserunning to take a 3-2 decision. Trailing 1-0 in the bottom of the fourth, Sanderlin tied things up by sending Harrell in after hitting a long fly to centerfield.

With two out in the sixth, it was Sanderlin who again provided the stick power as she tripled, driving in Lisa Essary from second and then scoring after a bad pitch to third.

In the second game PRC led 1-0 until the sixth inning when the Lady Wolves tied things up. During the top of the sixth the Lady 'Cats committed six errors to allow five Co-Lin runners to cross the plate.

PRC picked up two runs in the sixth before losing 6-3.

PRC football schedule told

The PRC Wildcats have three of their first four 1981 football games planned at Dobie Holden Stadium on campus, while three of the last four games will be on the road.

Reversing the schedule also means the Wildcats will roll the traditional weeks of Homecoming and the annual grudge fight with Gulf Coast all into one week of activities.

"It has its good and bad points," said J.C. Arban, the Wildcats head coach. "The three home games in September will certainly give us an advantage, but again the tide will turn towards the later part of the year."

PRC will open at home against Mississippi Delta of the north division on Saturday, September 5. The next week the annual 'Cat fight between PRC and Jones will take place at Laurel. Finishing out the month's competition at home will be Coahoma on Saturday, Sept. 19 and Hinds the following Saturday, Sept. 26.

Arban will lead his troops to East Central at Decatur on Oct. 3 before returning home for the Gulf Coast matchup on Saturday, Oct. 10. "We're kind of putting a lot of eggs into one basket," said Arban, referring to homecoming matchup with the Bulldogs. "It will be one heck of an exciting and busy day."

Five days later the Wildcats will tangle with Holmes on Thursday, Oct. 15 and then serve as opponents for the Southwest Bears at their Homecoming Saturday, Oct. 24 at Summit.

The Wolves of Co-Lin will visit the Wildcats on Halloween night (Oct. 30) before they take off for a long road trip to Northeast at Booneville on Thursday, Nov. 5.

Arban said he is expecting his Wildcats to improve over his team's 6-4 showing in 1980.

Wildcats drop doubleheader

John Sorrell's four of five day at the plate was not enough to keep Jones from taking a pair of South Division contests from Pearl River College, 9-5 and 13-3, last Thursday in Laurel.

In the first game, Sorrells went a perfect 4 for 4, in knocking out three singles and a double, scoring two runs, and had one run batted in.

Pearl River jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead behind Anthony Patterson's sacrifice fly and Joe Newcomer's single to score Mark Griffith and Sorrells.

The Wildcats let a big scoring opportunity get away from them in the top of the fourth after Jones had taken a 7-2 lead. Wayne Best reached first base on an error and advanced to third after two sacrifices from David Oakes and Mark Wesley. Jeff Graves proceeded to first after a base on balls which left men at the corners. Sorrells then blasted a double to score Best and was followed by a single by Patterson to bring Graves across the plate. The threat was ended as Mark Griffith went down swinging to have Jones lead 7-4 after four and one-half innings.

Jones added two more runs at the bottom half of the fourth and held a 9-4 advantage going into the final seventh frame. Sorrells again lashed a single and scored on a Griffith RBI single to cut the deficit to 9-5. Yet, Pearl River was turned away following consecutive outs.

Best went the distance for the Wildcats in allowing nine hits, while striking out three and walking four. His record fell to 0-4 with the decision.

The nightcap saw the Wildcats take a 2-0 lead into the bottom of the fourth by virtue of Newcomer's run-scoring single, allowing Darryl Smith to score and Newcomer later crossed the plate following an error. However in that fourth frame, Jones erupted for nine runs and six hits to take a commanding 9-2 lead.

PRC to host AAU basketball

Pearl River College has been selected to host the 1981 AAU Junior Olympic Basketball Championships for Girls, announced Billy Holmes, basketball coach at Pearl River.

Louisiana and Mississippi will be represented in two Southern AAU Championship Tournaments to be staged in the Pearl River Coliseum, starting with the 15 and under division tournament on May 22, 23, and 24.

Two weeks later, the 18 and under division tourney will take place June 5, 6, and 7. The Southern Association of the AAU Junior Olympics chose Poplarville primarily for the fine facilities offered by Pearl River.

"Originally, we were selected to host only the 18 and under division championships," stated Holmes.

"However, Charles Domino, the Girls' Junior Olympic chairman, came and got first-hand look at our Coliseum and asked us to host both championship tournaments. He also said that our facilities are the best to ever hold one on their championships."

Dormitory and cafeteria services will be available for each team. An athlete is eligible to compete in only one AAU Junior Olympic Division and must obtain a 1981 AAU card - cost $8 - to compete.

To receive athletic applications, write SAOU Office, P.O. Box 8728, Metairie, La. 70011.

Miss USA contestants to be filmed at NSTL

Eight locations along the Mississippi Coast will be featured during the live television broadcast of the 1981 Miss USA Pageant, according to pageant film director Gordon Myrick Jr. Myrick said the "fun films" will show contestants at various sites and will provide the nationwide television audience "a variety of enjoyable activities available to visitors to our area."

Myrick said this year's telecast will feature the beauty pageant contestants visiting the NASA test site in Hancock County, participating in a sailing regatta off the coast of Gulfport, competing in a bowling tournament at Keesler Air Force Base and being briefed by Keesler's "Hurricane Hunters," water skiing in Bayou Bernard and cane pole fishing along Biloxi's back bay, participating in the "Wild West Show" and learning the "Can-Can" in the saloon at Eight Flags, touring the facilities at the Port of Gulfport, racing cars at Funtime USA, and playing racquetball at Petit Bois Racquet Club in Biloxi.

Myrick explained his film committee has tried to concentrate in different areas of the Coast during each of the last three years the pageant has been on the Coast. Last year's films featured sites along the beachfront, while this year's films include areas along the bays and bayous. Last year's film featured a US Navy Ship at Ingalls Shipyard, while this year's film will feature Keesler Air Force Base on that installation's fortieth anniversary.

The filming at the NASA Test Site will capitalize on interest in the recent space shuttle flight. The NASA filming will include a firing of rocket engines being tested for future space shuttle flights. "These films are an excellent opportunity to promote our area to potential tourists and to encourage new industrial interest," Myrick said. "The pageant has been the top rated program of the week each of the last two years, and we want to take advantage of that captive audience of millions of travellers and business leaders."

"Some locations were selected because of the opportunity to demonstrate a variety of activities available to tourists," Myrick continued. "Others were selected to allow us to educate the public on some of Mississippi's industrial attractions, like our excellent port facilities."

Myrick said 30 locations were recommended and surveyed. After considering backgrounds, duplication of previously telecast sites, access to camera crews, available lighting and a number of other facts his committee recommended several to Miss USA's film producer, Kerry Glasser. The final eight were selected this week.

Myrick noted a film documentary will also be produced to promote Mississippi's musical heritage. The documentary, which will also be seen on the television broadcast, will feature Elvis Presley's birthplace in Tupelo, Jimmy Rogers' musical background in Meridian and the history of the blues music of the Delta region.

Filming will be done at the selected sites May 6, 7, and 8. Tickets are on sale now at the Coliseum for the pageant's May 14 opening ceremonies, the May 17 preliminary competition, and the May 21 broadcast of the finals.

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

Shortly before His crucifixion, Christ said unto His disciples, "Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but ye see me: because I live, ye shall live also." - John 14:19. Christ's resurrection from the dead was God's assurance to all believers of their own resurrection. Death poses no problem with God!

He raises the dead with ease. See Luke 8:54. Jesus took the young girl by the hand and said, "Maid, arise."

Suddenly, she who had been dead was alive and perfectly well.

It was no problem for Jesus! He stopped a funeral procession, touched the bier on which the body of a young man was being carried to burial, and said, "Young man, I say unto thee, Arise." - Luke 7:14. Life returned to the corpse, and he sat up and began to speak. How easy it was for the Lord!

On yet another occasion, Jesus came to the tomb where Lazarus had been buried and gave the command, "Lazarus, come forth." - John 11:43. He who had been buried four days lived and came forth out of the tomb. How wonderful! How marvelous!

Man's extremities are God's opportunities. Because something is difficult, or even impossible to man, never think it is difficult for God - See Luke 18:27.

"Why should it be thought a thing incredible by you, that God should raise the dead?" - Acts 26:8. God knows no impossibilities. He is the master of all things...even death!

The resurrection performed by Jesus were resuscitations to natural life. The persons raised were restored to their normal fitted-for-earth bodies. They received normal physical life again.

In due time, they lived out their life span and died. There is a different kind of resurrection explained in the Scriptures.

It is a resurrection to a new and different kind of life. A resurrection wherein we

A third degree initiation ceremony was held April 5 at Pascagoula.

This ceremony was the second largest of its type in Mississippi with 79 candidates for initiation, with 19 of which were from the Bay St. Louis Council, the largest group present.

On Holy Thursday the Knights of Columbus will maintain adoration from 9 p.m. to midnight at Our Lady of The Gulf Church and will recite the Rosary during this period.

The public is invited to join the Knights in this Columbian effort of public prayer.

On April 20 at 8 p.m., at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main Street a dinner-social is being held to honor the Knights and their ladies.

The menu is spaghetti and meatballs prepared multi-Italiano by Tony and Jake Morreale and their able assistants.

All Knights and their ladies are invited.

Mrs. Bill Seal, wife of the District Deputy Grand Knight, will speak on the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus.

Note: vino will be served.

drainage

It's time to start a regular drainage maintenance program in Bay St. Louis. We must establish a schedule that unclogs the major trouble spots first so that water from roadside ditches and gutters has somewhere to flow. Our present city employees can handle the program if the city sets up the maintenance schedule and provides the field training.

To do the job, it will take a new approach to running this city; it will take a new mayor.

USM among eleven award finalists

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities reports the University of Southern Mississippi is included among 11 finalists for the 1980 Theodore Mitau award, the nation's only award for innovation and change in public higher education.

USM's Faculty and Administrative Development Program which uses workshops in interpersonal communication leadership and management development for faculty members, administrators, staff and student leaders was submitted to the competition and will receive an AASCU citation for innovation May 8 in Washington, D.C.

The USM program, begun in 1976, consisted of three annual management workshops for senior administrators, including all deans, vice presidents and the president of the University.

The second phase, started two years later, included department chairpersons and directors of support functions in two annual management workshops.

The third phase was started in 1979 with workshops open to faculty members, administrators, student leaders and support staff personnel.

All phases were specifically designed to assist USM employees and administrators to communicate better and to function together with a sense of community spirit.

The program is staffed by 20 faculty members representing a variety of disciplines involved in communications, management and interpersonal relationships and is administered through the Teaching Learning Resource Center at USM.

According to Dr. J. Emory Howell, director of the LFRC, numerous requests for information on the program have been received from other universities.

"From the beginning, we have felt that our program offers unique opportunities to improve significantly the climate for learning and the effectiveness of communication throughout the University," Howell said.

"To know that our program has been recognized as one of eleven of the most innovative programs among state colleges and universities is a source of encouragement to me as well as to each member of our staff involved in the program," said Dr. Aubrey Lucas, USM president.

USM along with institutions in Georgia, Indiana, New York, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Montana, Massachusetts and Ohio were considered for the AASCU first place award.

Central Connecticut State College won this year's Mitau award for its new undergraduate curriculum which was revised due to the declining general education skills of students.

Military Mention

SGT. D.W. FRERET, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Freret of Route 1, Long Beach, has arrived for duty at Peterson Air Force Base, Colo.

Freret, an administrative specialist, was previously assigned at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 133 AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING EXTENDED PARKING OF VEHICLES AND PROVIDING FOR THE IMPOUNDING AND SALE OF VEHICLES SO PARKED.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, that:

1. The uninterrupted parking of any motor vehicle on the streets of the City of Waveland for a period of five (5) days or more is hereby declared to be a nuisance, and any police officer or authorized person shall be permitted to remove and impound said vehicle in a place of safety.

2. The parking of any motor vehicle which is not in an operable condition for a period in excess of twenty-four (24) hours on the streets and rights-of-way of streets of the City of Waveland is also declared a nuisance, and any police officer or authorized person shall be permitted to remove and impound said motor vehicle in a place of safety.

3. The impounded motor vehicle may be recovered by the owner upon presentation of proof of ownership to the City Secretary and payment of the towing fee which has been charged to the place of safety. In addition, any and all costs of storage of vehicles shall further be paid by the owner of the vehicle prior to the redemption of said vehicle.

4. If the impounded motor vehicle is not claimed within thirty (30) days from the date of its impoundment, the Chief of Police shall sell the impounded vehicle at public auction after posting notice of sale for two weeks in at least three public places.

5. Funds from the sale shall be deposited in the general fund of the municipality.

The foregoing Ordinance was first reduced to writing and read and considered section by section and then as a whole, whereupon the Mayor called for a roll call and the following vote was taken:

Those voting Aye: all

Those voting Nay: none

Whereupon the Mayor declared the Ordinance adopted.

LEGAL NOTICE

March 27, 1981

Hancock County Board of Supervisors

Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Gentlemen:

We have reviewed the internal accounting control procedures, including the accounting records and supporting documentation, of the Purchase Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi that we considered relevant to the criteria established by House Bill Number 975, Laws of 1974 and House Bill Number 670, Laws of 1975 of the Mississippi legislature. Our review included tests of compliance with such procedures during the period from October 1, 1979, through September 30, 1980.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial statements and supporting documentation for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by responsible officials.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in connection with the potential effectiveness of any system of internal control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes of judgment, carelessness, or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends upon segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion or unauthorized intentional by individuals. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, and that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

We understand that procedures in conformity with the criteria referred to in the first paragraph of this report are considered by the Board of Supervisors to be adequate for its purpose in accordance with the provisions of House Bill Number 975, Laws of 1974 and House Bill Number 670, Laws of 1975, and that procedures not in conformity therewith indicate inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our review, in our opinion the purchasing records and internal accounting control procedures of the Purchase Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi during the period October 1, 1979, through September 30, 1980, were adequate for the purposes of the Board of Supervisors and were in compliance with all material aspects of the requirements of House Bill 975, Laws of 1974 and House Bill 670, Laws of 1975.

Respectfully submitted,

Wynn Alexander, Certified Public Accountant

Bay High student cited as Governor's Scholar

Governor William Winter has announced that Vickie Young of Bay St. Louis Senior High School has been named a Governor's Scholar for superior academic achievements.

Governor Winter initiated the Governor's Scholar program to recognize scholastic achievement among high school students and to emphasize the importance of academic excellence.

Governor's Scholars from across Mississippi will participate in a Governor's Colloquium on Science, Engineering and Technology April 23 in Jackson.

The Colloquium, sponsored by Governor Winter and the Mississippi Academy of Sciences, is part of an effort by the governor to emphasize the importance of developing high caliber scientific and technological skills.

During the daylong Colloquium, papers on health sciences, engineering and computer sciences will be presented by Mississippi

Academy of Science members; Dr. Ben Douglas, assistant vice chancellor of the University of Mississippi Graduate School of Medicine;

VICKIE YOUNG

Dr. W. L. McDaniel, dean of the College of Engineering at Mississippi State University; and Dr. Don Trotter, professor of electrical engineering at Mississippi State University.

An evening address by the Nobel Prize winning physicist Dr. Arno A. Penzias will highlight the Colloquium.

Dr. Penzias is executive director of Bell Labs Research Communications Science Division.

With one of his colleagues, he was awarded the 1978 Nobel Prize in Physics.

The Colloquium is part of the governor's continuing effort to promote and develop education in Mississippi.

Education advancement has been a primary objective of the governor during his first year in office.

According to Winter, Mississippi's economic health is closely related to the quality of its educational instruction.

Commenting on the Colloquium, Winter said, "The growing technological sophistication of the South's industrial structure makes it essential that we allocate additional resources and place increased emphasis on instruction in mathematics, science and economics."

FLAG CEREMONY—St. Clare School was the site of a recent flag presentation ceremony conducted by American Legion Post No. 77 of Waveland. As students and faculty gathered in the front of the school, an American flag and a State flag were presented to Sister Elaine, principal. The Legionnaires then raised the flag and led the student body in the Pledge of Allegiance. Legion members present include Commander Jack Doyle; First Vice Commander John South; Chaplain John Wilhelm; Finance Officer Dudley McCall; Color Bearer Norman Scott; and Maurice Shea. Offshore training offered in Chauvin

Vocational training for the Offshore Oil and Gas Industry is being offered by the Louisiana Marine and Petroleum Institute in Chauvin, La. Classes start May 18 and June 1. The Institute is a state-operated vocational technical school, and offers training in Marine Operations, Vessel Engineering and Offshore Operations. Each program totals two years but approximately one year of this is spent in on-the-job training while employed aboard vessels, rigs or platforms. Tuition for non-Louisiana trainees is $30 per month. There is no charge for Louisiana residents.

Persons desiring further information should write Louisiana Marine and Petroleum Institute, P.O. Box 236, Chauvin, La. 70344 and request an application for admission.

Tarryl Ladner wins in VICA competition

Tarryl Ladner, a student from the Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center competed in the State Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Contest on April 3, at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

Tarryl, a senior at Hancock North Central High School, took third place honors in the electricity high school level contest.

He earned the right to compete in the state finals by winning the first place medal in the District Contest held at Jackson County Junior College in Gautier in February.

Tarryl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Ladner of Crane Creek Community. Accompanying Tarryl on the trip were 18 members of the VICA Club. Antonine Saucier and Val Goetz were voting delegates for the local club.

Presently in Mississippi, there are 72 local high school level chartered VICA clubs and 17 college level clubs.

John Cranmer, welding instructor, is the local VICA Club Advisor.

Perkinston eyes OJT programs

A cooperative education program, offering on-the-job training to students, is under consideration by Gulf Coast Junior College.

GCJC President J. J. Hayden Jr. said the program was discussed at a recent workshop conducted by Elizabeth Scofield at the Jefferson Davis Campus.

Scofield is a national training director for the cooperative education program and acting director for co-op at Temple University in Philadelphia.

A former co-op director at two community colleges, Scofield said the program is "a placement vehicle that gives the student a chance to explore a career and decide whether it's the right one."

According to co-op's recent guidelines, the program is based on the premise that "all learning is not found only in the classroom, and that the vast world of experience has much to offer to students."

The first program in the nation began in 1906 at the University of Cincinnati. It has since grown to nearly 1100 programs involving 210,000 students.

Scofield attributed part of this steady expansion to the federal government's interest in the program and the availability of government funds. Budget cuts by the Reagan administration are not expected to affect the program.

Two programs are available for institutions and can be as flexible as the school's needs dictate. The traditional program allows students to alternate between work and school, usually on a six-month basis.

A parallel program enables students to work and remain at school. Its popularity has increased in the last ten years and is the choice of many community colleges.

Co-op has expanded rapidly in vocational-technical areas, but current emphasis is on developing programs for liberal arts students and education majors. "Parallel programs bring with them new elements," Scofield said. "These include faculty involvement, evolution of learning contracts, and credit." At the start credit was not offered.

"Several factors contributed to credit options, but the most significant was probably the importance for the schools, since they were federally funded. And there has been a national trend to give credit for cooperative education."

Nationally 60 percent of the co-op students receive credit. Eighty-three percent of the programs have students in work assignments that are related to their major and 70 percent are for credit.

Student progress is evaluated by a faculty representative, employer and student. Learning contracts, written by the faculty, are signed by the three, the agreement includes learning objectives for the agreed span of time.

"Often the jobs students test are the ones they keep for years," Scofield said. "And 60 percent of them stay in those jobs. Many receive higher salaries than students who graduated and did not have career training of this type."

During the program the college can use the time to build or strengthen relationships with business and industry. "Community colleges, especially, have an interest in co-op...it brings them into the mainstream of the business community," Scofield noted. "And it helps them develop long-range positive relationships with the business community."

Scofield said that business, industry and political climate are contributing factors for an area's potential for expansion. A program's potential for growth "will depend on the business, climate, potential. Now people say it is at a plateau, but the Reagan administration may turn around in six months and change that."

Pass Elementary students enter poster competition

Pass Christian Elementary School recently sent sixteen posters to the Pass Christian Public Library to compete in the "My Favorite Book" poster contest.

Those chosen to compete and their awards are: Grade 1: Sheleana Alexander, first place; Scott Asher, second place; Dai Nguyen, and Johnny Schneider, certificates of participation.

Grade 2: Preston Wade, second place; Tong Nguyen, Greg Johnson, and Becky Tuner, certificates of participation.

Grade 3: Do Nguyen, first place; Tammy Fleming, second place; Duong Nguyen, and Dwane McArthur, certificates of participation.

Grade 4: Michael Schramm, first place; Liem Nguyen, Moi Nguyen, and Eric Dawkins, certificates of participation.

These winners received their awards at a special Awards Ceremony this month at the Pass Christian Public Library.

"Pass Christian Elementary is very proud of the many entries they had and hope that the public will view the winning entries that will be on display April 13-18, at Edgewater Mall," said Dr. Carlie Shaffer, principal.

TRACT I:
W 1/4 of NW 1/4; West 13.29 chains of the SW 1/4 of SW 1/4 of Section 4, Township 5 South, Range 16 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 108.87 acres.
TRACT II:
S 1/4 of NE 1/4; N 1/4 of SE 1/4; South 7 links of NE 1/4 of NE 1/4 of Section 5, Township 5 South, Range 16 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 100 acres.

LESS AND EXCEPT all oil, gas and other minerals in, on and under all of the above described land. All interested parties desiring to purchase said land may secure applications therefor from the Public Lands Division, Secretary of State's Office, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205, or the Superintendent of Education's Office, Copiah County, Mississippi, Hazlehurst, Mississippi, 39063. In accordance with the provisions of Section 29-3-19 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended, no more than 10% of said land will be sold to one person within one year.

On receipt of an application to purchase said land, the Lieut. Land Commission of the State of Mississippi will appoint a competent appraiser to appraise said land for the purpose of establishing the fair market value thereof. Based on said appraisal, the Lieut. Land Commission of the State of Mississippi and the Board of Education of Copiah County, Mississippi, will determine whether or not the amount offered represents the fair market value thereof, and if so, said land will be sold to said applicant. In the event there is more than one application to purchase said land which exceeds the fair market value thereof, then and in that event the highest and best bid received will be accepted.

Applications to purchase said land must be filed with the Public Lands Division, Office of the Secretary of State of the State of Mississippi, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205, no later than Friday, May 1, 1981, at 5:00 o'clock P.M. If a bid for said land is approved, the State will have the option to sell the successful bidder which will receive all oil, gas and other minerals in, on and under said land and be made subject to any oil, gas and mineral leases in effect covering same.

S 1/4 of NE 1/4; N 1/4 of SE 1/4; South 7 links of NE 1/4 of NE 1/4 of Section 5, Township 5 South, Range 16 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, containing 100 acres.

LESS AND EXCEPT all oil, gas and other minerals in, on and under all of the above described land. All interested parties desiring to purchase said land may secure applications therefor from the Public Lands Division, Secretary of State's Office, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205, or the Superintendent of Education's Office, Copiah County, Mississippi, Hazlehurst, Mississippi, 39063. In accordance with the provisions of Section 29-3-19 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended, no more than 10% of said land will be sold to one person within one year.

On receipt of an application to purchase said land, the Lieut. Land Commission of the State of Mississippi will appoint a competent appraiser to appraise said land for the purpose of establishing the fair market value thereof. Based on said appraisal, the Lieut. Land Commission of the State of Mississippi and the Board of Education of Copiah County, Mississippi, will determine whether or not the amount offered represents the fair market value thereof, and if so, said land will be sold to said applicant. In the event there is more than one application to purchase said land which exceeds the fair market value thereof, then and in that event the highest and best bid received will be accepted.

Applications to purchase said land must be filed with the Public Lands Division, Office of the Secretary of State of the State of Mississippi, Jackson, Mississippi, 39205, no later than Friday, May 1, 1981, at 5:00 o'clock P.M. If a bid for said land is approved, the State will have the option to sell the successful bidder which will receive all oil, gas and other minerals in, on and under said land and be made subject to any oil, gas and mineral leases in effect covering same.

This 5th day of March, 1981.

Deadline Time!

Last call for South Central Bell's
new phone book.

The deadline is near for placing Yellow Pages ads and making changes in South Central Bell's new phone book.

The Yellow Pages is the first step four out of five shoppers take. So be sure to advertise your business under headings for all your products and services. And tell potential customers all about your business. The brands you carry, charge cards you accept, special services you offer, your business hours. And include a location map to help customers find you.

This is last call for White Pages listings too. Now's the time to order that bold-type business listing. And to get additional listings for everyone in your household.

Alcorn plans jazz festival

The Rutgers-Livingston Jazz Professors will perform at the First Annual Alcorn State University High School and College Jazz Festival at 8 p.m. April 22 in the school's student Union ballroom.

Larry Ridley, bass player and director of the group and chairman of the music department at Livingston College-Rutgers University, has performed with the Minneapolis and Detroit Symphony Orchestras.

His experience as a bassist includes concert nightclub, TV, radio and recording engagements with Roy Haynes, Eonny Rollins, the Newport Jazz Festival All Stars, and many more.

Piano player Kenneth Barron is a performer with the Ron Carter Quartet and assistant professor of music at Livingston College in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

In the past Barron has worked with blues singer Ester Marrow and the Dizzy Gillespie Quintet. Charles Rouse, tenor saxophone player, has displayed his skills as a soloist before concert audiences around the world during the last 35 years.

He's best known for his ten years with the Thelma Monk Quartet. His most recent recording is last year's "Moment's Notice," released on the European Jazz Craft label.

William Fielder, trumpet player of the group, has been affiliated with musical organizations headed by Slide Hampton, B.B. King, Ray Charles, Duke Ellington and the legendary Dina Washington. He is currently teaching trumpet at Livingston College-Rutgers University.

The fifth member of the group is Horace Arnold, a drummer, composer, and arranger. During the 70s Arnold performed, recorded, and toured with several well known groups and personalities: the Jazz Mobile, the Here and Now Company, Billy Harper Quintet, Sonny Fortune, Chick Corea, and the Star Getz Quartet.

The jazz festival will begin at 8 a.m. in the Union with all-day events including workshops and entertainment.

String of Pearls auditions slated

Tryouts for the String of Pearls, the precision dance and kick group at Pearl River College will be Tuesday, April 21, at the Pearl River Coliseum.

Dr. Becky Askew, String of Pearls director, said registration begins at 8:30 p.m. Interested high school seniors and freshman students are encouraged to tryout.

According to Askew the group will be expanded from the usual 20 to 30 members if there are enough qualified participants. There are only six members returning as sophomores.

At least three experienced judges will head the selection committee. All contestants are required to learn a short routine, and then will be judged on comprehension and execution of the routine. Rhythm and march ability will also be considered by the judges.

For more information contact Dr. Askew at 601-795-4558.

Long Beach Center offers GED testing

The Long Beach Center for Community Education will hold an evening session of General Education Development (GED) high school equivalency testing April 21 and 22 from 6 to 10 p.m. and one session all day Saturday April 25 beginning at 8 a.m.

Open to any Mississippi resident and all military personnel and their dependants, prospective testees must be at least 17 years old and have not attended regular high school for the last six months.

To apply, interested testees should call the Long Beach Center for Community Education (863-7248) April 20 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. or come to Jeff Davis Elementary school 30 minutes prior to testing time.

USM's Coast campuses welcome summer transfers

College students whose home is on the Mississippi Gulf Coast but attend college away from the Coast have a unique opportunity with the University of Southern Mississippi-Gulf Coast this summer.

According to USM officials on the Coast, those students who attend college elsewhere all year but will be home during the summer and want to take a course or more may do so at the USM regional campus.

"We certainly welcome those students, regardless of where they attend classes all year, if they are of junior or senior classification and in good academic standing on the campus they usually attend, it is very simple for them to take classes here on the Coast this summer," Dr. Joe Holloway, dean of USM-Gulf Coast said.

Classes at USM-Gulf Coast are predominately in the evening to accommodate the student who wishes to work during the summer.

USM offers classes at the Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach, on Keesler Air Force Base, and at the Gulf Coast Junior College in Gautier.

Fees for summer term on the Regional campus are $31 per semester hour for undergraduate students and $73 per semester hour for graduates.

"We welcome inquiries immediately and will be happy to mail schedules and other information to anyone interested in USM-Gulf Coast this summer," said Louis Elias, director of student services.

To contact USM-Gulf Coast about the summer term call 864-6533 in Harrison County, 497-3638 in Jackson County or write: Summer Term, USM Gulf Park, Long Beach, Ms. 38650.

150 WAYS TO SAVE! No-FRILLS

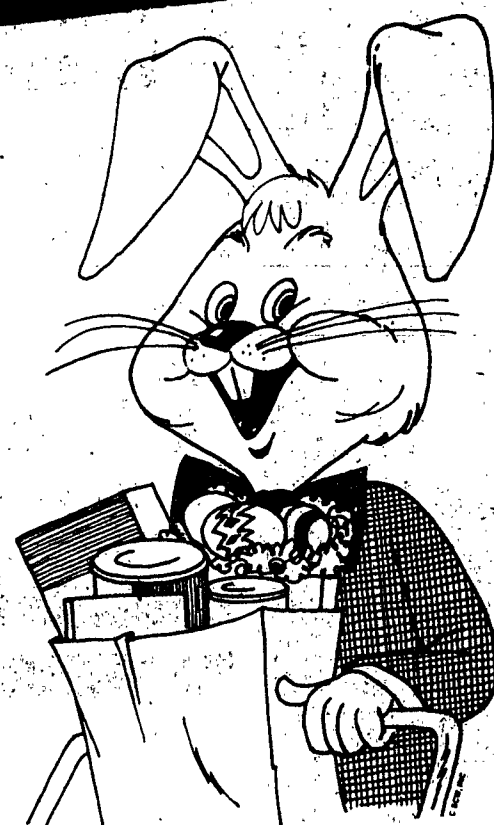

EASTER BASKETS OF Bargains

We've hatched up a big basket of Eastertime savings just for you. Our No-FRILLS plain label products will help you save money on what you need so there's more left over to spend on your Easter dress.

Who is buying our No-FRILLS products? Everybody who wants to save money... Isn't that everyone? If a bean is broken or a peach isn't perfect, so what? Our No-FRILLS household products are single-ply paper products with no fancy fragrance, colors or designs, but they get the job done.

No expensive national advertising, no unnecessary fancy packaging... just consistent savings of up to 50 percent. And that's a bargain, plain and simple.

BAY

Judge revoc Schwall ge

By BRENT MACEY

Michael Schwall, 31, of Bay St. Louis was sentenced to four years in the Mississippi State Penitentiary after being found guilty of a probation violation by Senior Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant Friday in the Hancock County Courthouse.

The sentence stems from a recent justice court hearing in which Schwall was found delinquent.

At the time he was still convicted.

During the hearing, Schwall was given a probation violation.

Two years ago, Schwall was sentenced to the third Hancock County Courthouse.
